GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Another defeat met the local baseball representatives at St. Louis yesterday. Galvin faced the Association champions, and pitched well, but his support was wretched. He kept Von der Ahe's men down to four hits, and still was beaten. The Browns played well, and Freeman, their pitcher, did excellent work. The INPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. St. Louis, April 3 .- A combination of ball-tossers in black and orange faced the champions and a high wind at Sportmen's Park to-day. The visitors hail from the natural gas borough of Pittsburg, and the tints of the uniform were in perfect harmony with the feelings and play of the Leaguers. Black is still the fashionable color at funerals, and orange or "yellow" denoted the particularly "saffron" character of the League play. But in truth, it must be said that Dunlap's men have not yet struck their gait. They show the effects of a lazy winter, and with two weeks' hard practice will probably come around all right, Galvin, Dunlan, Beckley, Sunday and Miller showed up with good activity, but "Pop" Smith, Kuehne and the others are short of the article. The Brown, Latham excepted, played a perfeet game. The man from Shoetown made a double, caught a line fly and then made three errors out of two and a half chances. Freeman pstched a good game and Fuller played a brilltant short. Beckley knocked out three fine hits, but they were of no avail. Galvin pitched in good form, but the infield work was discouraging. By an adroit movement in the first inning Dunlap allowed Boyle's hit to go between his legs and Comisky and O'Nell scored. Errors by Kuehne and Smith, a wild throw by Sunday and a hit by Boyle netted three runs in the third. The visitors' only run was the result of bases on balls tendered Coleman and Dunlap and a long fly by Kuehne, which allowed Dunlap to score. Full score:

He Gives the Reason Why He Won't Go to Washington.

Regarding his case, John M. Ward made the following statement to a DISPATCH reporter on my release to such clubs as might desire my services. In doing this I mentioned Boston and Washington, just as I would have mentioned Boston and Indianapolis, or any other club. Boston at once began negotiations with man and when I left Frisco I had a legal con-tract with that club in my pocket.

H. O. Merrier Arrives and Makes a Good Impression.

H. O. Messier, the Omaha pedestrian, arrived the city yesterday. He is cutered for next week's contest. Yesterday afternoon he was on the London Theater track and covered about ten miles. He is, indeed, a "good colker," and goes well. The talent co him a likely winner. He has a good record and has gone through three or four six-day races.

Day, Noremac, Golden and Nolan were also on the track, all in excellent condition. The first named has many friends here, and one of them offered to bet that he would defeat Golden. There is still a strong feeling between Golden and Noremac, and the friends of each are just as demonstrative about the respective qualities of the two pedestrians.

TEEMER AND GAUDAUR.

John Has Not Accepted the McKeesporter's Terms-A Copy of New Articles Forwarded Gaudaur's Backer-Concessions Made.

John Teemer, the sculler, stated definitely yesterday that be has received no word from St. John relative to the acceptance of any con-ditions of a race between him. Teemer, and Gaudaur. In view of recent announcements this is significant, and it may turn out that St. John will decline to match Gaudaur against Teemer on any of the terms already conceded by the latter. However, Teemer desires that matters be thoroughly understood by the pubhe. He is willing to row Gaudaur on the terms proposed by St. John, and yesterday requested the writer to draw up the following articles and forward them to St. John.

Articles of agreement entered into this day, April — 1888, between John Teamer, of Mo-Keesport, and Jacob G. Gaudaur, of St. Louis, Mo., to row three races, in best and best boats, Mo., to row three races, in best and best boats, at the following respective distances: Two miles, three miles and four miles, each with a turn, and each race to be for $500 a side.

The two-mile race to be rowed first over a course to be named by Jacob G. Gaudaur. The three-mile race shall be rowed second over a course to be named by John Teemer.

The course of the first race shall be named four weeks before the date of the first race. Teemer shall name the course for the second race at any time after Gaudaur has named the course for the first race, but not later than 14 days before the second race. If a third race is necessary, the contestants to toss a coin for choice of course.

The first race to be rowed on June 1, 1889, the second on June 15, 1889, and the third, if necessary, on June 29, 1889. The winner of any two of the three races to be entitled to all the trakes. two of the three ruces to be entitled to all the stakes.

The first deposit of $750 each to be put up on April 12 1889, in the keeping of THE PITTS-BURG DISPATCH, who shall be final stakeholder. The second and final deposit of $750 each to be made good with the final stakeholder two days after the first race.

The races shall be rowed according to the rules of the National Amateur Rowing Association and each race to be rowed between the house of 4 and 6 P. M.

If the contestants cannot agree in the selection of a referee three days before the first race the final stakeholder shall appoint one, and be shall officiate at each race rowed.

The referee's decision shall be final and subject to no appeal at law.

If a contestant objects to the roughness of the rowing course the referee shall decide for or against such objection.

word "go."
All "coaches" to remain astern of the hindmost contestant.

Either contestant failing to comply with the requirements of the foregoing articles shall forfeit all money up.

Signed this day. April — 1889.

A copy of the above was forwarded St. John last evening, and Teemer is also in possession of a copy. It will be seen that Teemer has conceded everything demanded by St. John. The latter, if quoted correctly in some papers, evidently has been mistaken on one or two important points. Teemer's original challenge, as it appeared in this paper, stated that he would row anybody three races of 3, 4 or 5 miles respectively. St. John, in behalf of Gandaur, substituted a two-mile race for that of five miles. Teemer agreed to this, so that St. John or anybody else is strong in stating that Teemer originally wanted a two-mile race.

It is only fair to explain the matter fully, and the explanation certainly proves that Teemer is not a quibbler, and that he means business.

TAX ON FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

Is a Boomerang Which is Ruining Our Home Companies, as It posed by Other States.

The insurance companies of the State sent tax upon foreign companies doing business is claimed, is ruining our home companies, as most of their business is done outside of

[FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] Pennsylvania appeared to-day before the Senate Committee on Finance and asked that the tax on foreign insurance companies doing business in this State be reduced from 3 to 2 per cent on the gross premiums, thus making the tax uniform on all insurance companies, whether chartered under the laws of Pennsylvania or of some other cent of their net profits.

The law imposing this tax was passed in 1873, with the idea of protecting the Pennsylvania companies in the business of the State. But other States adopted retaliatory laws. They are in this form, that to the extent Pennsylvania discriminates against the companies of these other States, her own companies are discriminated against. That is, Pennsylvania companies are taxed 3 per cent on their gross premiums in other States, because Pennsylvania levies that tax on the companies of these States doing business within her borders. The 42 Pennsylvania companies do a larger business outside the State than the foreign companies do in the State. Hence the State in trying to protect them has laid on them a burden of taxation without the State much larger than the revenue the State derives from the foreign companies.

A BOOMERANG TAX.

Insurance Commissioner Foster was be fore the committee, and supported the statements of the gentlemen, adding that the Pennsylvania companies would really make money by paying the State the additional per cent levied on the outside companies The representations of the gentlemen were favorably considered by the committee, and it was resolved to insert a clause or section in the general revenue bill removing the discrimination against outside companies.

The gentlemen who appeared before the committee at this point were T. C. Henry, Vice President of the Insurance Company of North America; Joseph L. Cavan, President of the United Firemen's Association of North America, and Colonel Dale Benson, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Company.

In speaking of the general subject Insurance Commissioner Foster said 60 per cent and sometimes more of a fire insurance.

ompany's premiums go to pay fire losses, and at least 30 per cent to pay expenses. Where 90 per cent represented these items a tax of 3 per cent on the gross premiums was equivalent to a tax of 60 per cent on the profits. This, he declared, amounted to confiscation, and what, he asked, did it amount to when fire losses and expenses ex-eeeded the gross premiums. He thought a tax of 5 per cent on a company's profits, such as was levied on stock companies, would be ample.

Mr. Henry showed that largely owing to the system of taxation in our State in the seven years past 42 companies had paid in the aggregate over $500,000 for the privilege of doing business, having lost that amount. Mr. Cavan also referred to the fact that there was a loss of $544,000 by the companies in the seven years past, and said that only by careful nursing of their investments ar they able to live, and only through the accretions of years previous to 1881 have they been able to pay dividends. To show that other than millionaires were concerned, Mr. Henry stated that 1,200 of the 2,500 of his company are women, who have invested their savings thus. Mr. Reynolds, of Lancaster, and L. G. Fouse, of Philadelphia, appeared on behalf of the life insurance companies, and this gave Senators Cooper and Grady the idea that mutual insurance orders such as the Odd Fellows, Royal Arcanum, Knights of Honor, etc., ought to be taxed in some way. Insurance Commissioner Foster thought it would be only right, but didn't think the Legislature would consent to it. At the request of the two Senators, however, he consented to draw up a section for the general revenue bill covering that point, and they promised to do their best with the Legisla-

TRIPLE TAXATION IS TOO MUCH. M. Olmstead, Esq., appeared before the committee in behalf of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia. Under the general revenue bill, he said, this ompany would be taxed on its mortgages and gross premiums, and, if an appeal now in the courts from a decision of the late Auditor General Norris was decided adversely, it would also be taxed on its net earnings. He did not object to the double taxation, as taxed, but he did object to triple taxation, especially as this particular company would be the only one in the State so taxed. He asked an amendment that would exempt the company from the tax on net earnings.

Senator McLain, of Washington, appeared before the committee, and made an eloquent plea for the retention of Dr. Neff's amendment to the revenue bill, providing THE Boston baseball authorities claim that they knew weeks ago that Ward would not go to Washington. he has on interest after deducting his in-debtedness. The Auditor General is strongly opposed to this amendment. Secretary Blaine told me to-day that he would not, under any circumstances, have me go until the force of the epidemic is lessened, and I think I agree with him. If I were in the country then, of course it would be my duty to remain and to-do all in my power for the distressed, but as I am here there seems to be no good and sufficient reason why I should inject my presence into a disease-stricken community at this season of the year. NEW YORK, April 4 .- The jury in the trial of Vincenzo Quarterao for the murder of Antonio Flaccomio, on October 14, were discharged at 12:45 this morning, being unable to agree. They had been out since 5:15 in the evening, and stood four for conviction and eight for acquittal. The murder of Flaccomio was, at the time it occurred, a very mysterious one. Flaccomio was stabbed to feath in front of Cooper Union on Third avenue at 8 o'clock in the evening while the street was crowded.

It was proved almost beyond question that the prisoner's brother did the stab-bing, and Vincenzo was thought to have been an accomplice. Vincenzo's brother fled and the former gave himself up. His defense was an alibi. The murder was committed after a game of cards. The Evidence Pointed That Way.

Chicago Tribune.1 "What was in his pockets?" inquired the "Nothing. They were turned inside out," was the reply of the witnesses. Verdict of the jury: "We find that the deceased stranger came to his death rom causes unknown to us, but circumstances incline us to the theory of saicide and point to the probability that his last stopping place was some hotel in Washington, D. C."

Getting Rendy for the Sen. WASHINGTON, April 3. - The commandant of the marine corps has been directed to detail guards for the Yorktown and Adams, the former to report on the 10th and the latter the 20th inst. GOLD, BUT NOT MUCH.

NEW YORK, April 3 .- A private letter received in this city from an American mining expert who has visited the recently discovered gold deposits in Peninsular or Lower California and examined them says: "The placer mining is already a failure. There is gold in the placers, but not in such quantities as to make their working profitable to Americans. The Mexican people of the neighborhood will continue to work them in their way, will continue to work them in their way, because they are satisfied if they can make half a dollar a day and have the hope of making a richer find by chance.

"There are, however, some quartz ledges which promise well, and which, if they were developed in a systematic way, with the help of considerable capital, might turn out well. That remains to be seen, and in my judgment no one should attempt it without large capital. I have advised mere prospectors and placer workers to keen away. pectors and placer workers to keep away from these diggings. A great many have already returned home, and in my belief it will not be long before the place is descrited by this class of miners, except the Mexi-

"Governor Torres has already given official notice that the placer diggings are not rich, and that it is not prudent for people to go to them. He has done right in this, and the International Company's people also discouraged the rush as soon as they ascertained that there was no promise of profitable diggings.

HINDOO THUGS. One Who Strangled 97 Victims as Sacrifice to His Horrid Goddens. A recent letter from India says: During our stay at Jubbulpore, Colonel Hughes Hallett, the superintendent of prisons, was kind enough to show us over the jail, and the excellent school of industry, which he manages for the benefit of children of the old thugs or stranglers, who have long been kept under restraint at Jubbulpore. From the jail Colonel Hughes Hallett took us to see the interned thugs, a caste of Hindoo for centuries the terror of India, who carried their devotion to the cruel goddess Bowane to such a pitch, as to make it their religion to strangle human beings in her honor.

Many years ago, the Indian Government suppressed them, and confined them in a special village at Jubbulpore. There are only 152 of them left, many of whom are aged and infirm their women and shalless only 152 of them left, many of whom are aged and infirm, their women and children bringing up the total to 346. There is a venerable bed-ridden old "saint" much looked up to by the rest, who has strangled 97 victims with his own hands as sacrifices to his horrid goddess. His closing years are tinged with gentle melancholy; he wishes that a meddlesome Government had allowed him to complete his required handred. allowed him to complete his round hundred. These people are employed in various ways, chiefly tent-making and carnet-weaving. Colonel Hughes Hallett manages matters so skillfully, that the profits not only keep the aged and infirm in comfort, but leave a

DESPOT OF THE WHITE HOUSE. It is Not General Harrison, but Little Baby

Benjamin H. McKee. New York World Washington Special, 1 Monday is in theory the President's day off, but it isn't much of a pienic after all. He was apparently as busy to-day as any other day. About 11 o'clock the President was called downstairs into the red parlor, and there he and Mrs. Harrison received the ladies and gentlemen of the Japanese the diplomats, and they spent fully 15 minutes in very pleasant converse.

It was after 1 o'clock when the President went down to the 300 or 400 members of the general public. No one outside of the famly seemed to know why he was late, but the general belief is that Benjamin Harrison McKec was responsible for it, for shortly be-fore the President started to go down stairs loud wail of distress went up from the throat of the aforementioned B. H. McKee. Just what hurt him can only be surmised but it is certain that the fond grandparer laid aside the cares of office for awhile and busied himself in soothing the woes and

THE BEHRING'S SEA SNARL. Some British Columbians Inclined to Dispute Uncle Sam's Claims.

OTTAWA, ONT., April 3 .- In the Senate to-day, MacDonald, of British Columbia, interrogated the Government regarding the recent proclamation of President Harrison respecting Behring's Sea. Senator Macinnes, also of British Columbia, read an editorial from a United States paper, to the effect that one-half of Behring's Sea belonged exclusively to the United States, In conclusion he urged the Government to ask the question at once and forever the Imperial Government to settle. Mr. Kaulbach spoke in a similar strain. Macinnes interrupted him to state that the United States had put forth a pretension in 1887 to exclusive privileges in the sea, and had seized British vessels. Mr. Abbott, leader of the Government, said he did not understand the proclams tion to assert any new right by the United States, or any right over Behring's Sea.
